Reader's Advisory:

The Image Collections and Fieldwork Archives (ICFA) at Dumbarton Oaks has announced the online publication of its 16mm film collection. The thirteen (13) films are now available through Vimeo and are embedded on ICFA's Moving Image collection webpage: <http://www.doaks.org/library-archives/icfa/special-projects/films-and-videos>.

The collection consists of films documenting the Byzantine Institute's restoration work at the Red Sea Monastery of St. Anthony <http://www.doaks.org/library-archives/icfa/special-projects/films-and-videos/red-sea-monastery-of-st-anthony>), Hagia Sophia <http://www.doaks.org/library-archives/icfa/special-projects/films-and-videos/hagia-sophia>), and Kariye Camii <http://www.doaks.org/library-archives/icfa/special-projects/films-and-videos/kariye-camii>). They were filmed between 1930 and 1950 and document the fieldwork projects, as well as the conservation and restoration techniques employed by the Byzantine Institute fieldworkers.
