

12:42:32 From Ruth Verde Zein to Everyone:

I'd like to know if the presentations are or will be soon published, if they are, where, please.

12:43:25 From Ruth Verde Zein to Everyone:

please send us the links! thanks

12:47:39 From Anne Marshall to Everyone:

As a "northerner" whose Spanish is not fluent, I am grateful for this session in English and look forward to the module on GAHTC.

12:50:42 From Alexandra Masgras to Everyone:

I have a follow-up on Valentina's question -- could you discuss the new methodologies you are developing and, more specifically, what new types of sources you are accessing in your research? It seems to me that you are all working to challenge the normativities in the Northern canon. Thank you all so much for sharing your work!

12:51:35 From Manuel Sánchez García to Everyone:

"Latin American Architectures with all sizes of the letter A" sounds like a nice title

12:57:04 From Ana María León to Everyone:

we also created a collaborative list of archives in the Americas: <https://bit.ly/NNEES>

12:58:00 From Yolanda Munoz-Lozano to Everyone:

I have to leave as I have another meeting. Thank you everyone for your remarkable work. I am looking forward to further opportunities to collaborate.

12:58:11 From Ana María León to Everyone:

thank you Yolanda!

12:58:24 From Yolanda Munoz-Lozano to Everyone:

I will be in contact with the group. Have a good day!

12:58:47 From Fernando Luis Martínez Nespral to Everyone:

About the struggles with the canon you can see this call for papers for a volume of Dearq that we are editing with Ingrid Quintana and Fernando Luiz Lara (available in English and Spanish) <https://revistas.uniandes.edu.co/callforpapers/dearq>

12:59:29 From Antonio Pacheco to Everyone:

Can you share more thinking on the concept of “Latin America” as a discursive category — is it geographic, thematic, linguistic, continental? Where/ how does it begin and end? Thinking about the legacies of colonialism, neoliberalism, etc and how those forces have shaped the Americas

12:59:30 From Alexandra Masgras to Everyone:

thank you so much - Fabiola, Pily, and Silvia - for the insightful responses, and thank you, Ana Maria, for reading my question (I cannot unmute myself right now). Looking forward to seeing more of your work and learning from all of you!

12:59:38 From Valentina Davila to Everyone:

I think you are doing a great job creating new archives, shifting the perspective on heritage and expanding our sources!

12:59:57 From Patricia Morton to Everyone:

Thanks for this terrific discussion! Sorry that I have to leave now.

13:00:54 From Maribel Aliaga to Everyone:

13:05:01 From Daniela Sandler to Everyone:

@Fernando, Tupi or not tupi!

13:18:46 From Valeria Guzman Verri to Everyone:

I have to leave, once again congratulations for this presentation and wonderful work. Felicidades!

13:18:47 From diane lopez to Everyone:

thank you for this conversation! As a Hondurena/Mexicana born in the United States and as the architecture librarian at UT San Antonio, I appreciate the work that all you have done. Does anyone recommend any additional resources that I can share with our students here at UTSA Architecture and Planning program?

13:20:54 From Alexandra Masgras to Everyone:

again, follow-up on Valentina's question: how do you approach teaching a survey class?

13:21:28 From Daniela Sandler to Everyone:

Paulo Freire!

13:25:38 From Fernando Luis Martínez Nespral to Everyone:

About Alexandra's question, we have to re-define the courses. Current survey courses are Eurocentric and racist

13:26:27 From Fernando Luis Martínez Nespral to Everyone:

In our case I do not teach survey courses, we changed to thematic courses

13:27:57 From Diane Lopez to Everyone:

I welcome recommendations, pls email me at diane.lopez2@utsa.edu

13:28:45 From Anne Marshall to Everyone:

Thank you for this inspiring session. Muchas gracias.

13:28:49 From Barbara Aguiar to Everyone:

Thanks, Ana María and Fernando, for inviting us for this conversation! Congratulations to all for your work, looking forward to learning more from you!

13:28:58 From Valentina Davila to Everyone:

Can't wait!!!
