SAH CELEBRATES

SAH Celebrates (formerly the SAH Awards Gala) raises funds to support the Society's educational programs and publications, including SAH Archipedia, the Society's online encyclopedia of the built environment of the United States, and the award-winning Buildings of the United States book series. Proceeds also help support the restoration of the Charnley-Persky House (1891–92), designed by Louis Sullivan and Frank Lloyd Wright, which serves as SAH's international headquarters in Chicago.

Since 2010 SAH has recognized outstanding achievements in architectural practice and academic study at the annual fall fundraiser. Approximately 200 guests attend the event, including architects, architectural historians, designers, landscape architects, preservationists, museum professionals, corporate and civic leaders, and others interested in architecture and design from Chicago and the U.S.

SAH MISSION

The Society of Architectural Historians is a nonprofit membership organization that promotes the study, interpretation and conservation of architecture, design, landscapes and urbanism worldwide. Founded in 1940, SAH serves a network of local, national and international institutions and individuals who, by profession or interest, focus on the history of the built environment and its role in shaping contemporary life. SAH promotes meaningful public engagement with the history of the built environment through advocacy efforts, print and online publications, and local, national and international programs.
